WHALE WATCHING PHOTO SAFARI

An intimate photography experience that will take your breath away

Trip details:

North Pacific Humpbacks spend the summer in the temperate waters from the Aleutian Island of Alaska to the Farallon Islands off the coast of Central California. During the colder winter months, November to May, the majority of the North Pacific stock is found in the warm waters of Hawaii and Mexico, where they breed, calve, and nurse their young.

1. Comfortable and safe inflatable boats provide close encounters with the whales - great for photos
2. Informative and educational tour with our expert guide
3. Amazing sightings
4. Unique opportunity to listen to the whales communicate with Hydrophone headsets
5. Spotter plane that guides us to the whales for intimate encounters
